(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M. ST. PETERSBURG, March 6.-[By Atlantic Cable.] Answering an quiry concerning the fate of Baron Toll, the explorer who was recently reported to have perished in the Arctic Ocean, M. Doubrovit, secretary of the Academy of Sciences, says that he has received not a word of news for some time. Another expedition is now searching for him. The belief is that the Baron has been lost. The Bourse Gaz tte offers a reward for inform tion establishing the explorer's death. Nothing has been heard from Baron Toll since he left the yacht Zariah May 23, 1902, in company with two Yakuts and started for Bennett Island. The Zariah left her winter quarters early in June, 1902, to find Baron Toil and his associate, the Zoologist Biri-liu, but was unsuccessful in its misnu, but was unsuccessful in its mis-mission and returned to the Lena River. Birliu escaped across the ice. Three relief parties were sent out by the Academy early in 1903, one of them being under the command of Lieut. Kolchak.

A dispatch from Yalluts, Eastern Si-berla, dated January 15 last, said that boatmen of the expedition com-manded by Lleu. Kolchak had ar-rived there and reported that the ef-fort of the expedition to find Baron Toll had been unsuccessful. Baron Toll had been unsuccessful. Baron Toll left documents on Bennett Isl-and showing that he had turned south-ward November 8, 1902.

ATTACK UPON VLADIVOSTOK.

Five Japanese Battleships Throw Two Hundred Shells at the Town but Leave After Killing Five Persons.

Russians Do Not Return the Fire and Efforts of the Japs to Ascertain if War Vessels Are in the Harbor Prove of No Avail.

LADIVOSTOK, March 6. -- [By Asiatic Cable.] A fleet of five Japanese battleships and two cruisers appeared off this place at 1:25 o'clock this afternoon and bombarded the town and shore batteries for fifty-five minutes.

The fleet approached from the direction of Askold Island, at the east entrance to Ussuri Bay and about thirtytwo miles southeast of Vladivostok. Entering Usuri Bay the enemy formed a line of battle, but did not approach to a closer range than a mile and one-third. They directed their fire against the shore batteries and the town, but no damage resulted, as most of their 200 lyddite shells failed to burst. The Russian batteries, commanded by Gens. Voronetz and Artamanoff, did not reply, awaiting a closer approach of the enemy.

The Japanese fire ceased at 2:20 p.m., and the enemy retired in the direction of Askold Island. Simultaneously two torpedo boat destroyers appeared near Askold Island and two more near Cape Maidel. The Japanese ships were

The attack resulted in no loss to the Russians, but cost the enemy 200,000 roubles ($100,000) in ammunition. Most of the projectiles were 6 and 12 inch shells.

The people of Viadivostok were warned this morning of the presence on the horizon of a hostile fleet and the prospect of attack during the day, but they remained tranquil.

"I most humbly inform Your Majesty that the commandant at the fortress at Vladivostok reports that, at 8:50 this morning, seven vessels were sighted south of Askold Island. At 9:45 they were seen to be warships, making for Askold Island. About noon the enemy's squadron was midway between the coast and Askold Island, making for Ussuri Bay. They were out of reach of the shore batteries. At 1:30 the enemy opened fire. Two vessels in the squadron were probably the first-class cruisers Idzuma and Yakumo, but the names of the other vessels are unknown.

KILLED FIVE PERSONS. [BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 6.—Official dispatches received here concerning the bombardment of Vladivostok this afternoon do not mention any Russian losses, but private advices say that five were killed, four sailors, and the wife of an engineer. It is apparent that the Japanes were afraid to risk exposing their ships to the plunging fire of the land batteries, and it is considered probable her that the attack was really for the purpose of drawing the fire of the Russian forts, compelling the Russians to disclose the position and caliber of their guns and for the purpose of ascertaining whether the Russian squadron is in port. If this was the object of the Japanese, it is believed to have failed signally, as the batteries did not fire a shot, and if the squadron is in port, it could not be seen from the Japanese position in the Bay of Ussuri; on account of obstructing the view of the harbor.

AVALANCHES STOP JAPANESE. (BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

ST. PETERSBURG, March 6.—Cossack scouts report that the Japanese column from Plaksin Bay, on arriving in the snow-blockaded defile of the mountains separating Korea from Manchuria, was forced to halt, owing to avalanches and other obstacles. The scouts say that one-third of the strength of this column is invalided. It is now supposed that the column is returning for the purpose of seeking an easier route.

POLES WILL RISE IF OPENING OFFERS.

BERLIN, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Vienna and St. Petersburg governments are fully prepared for an uprising in Russian Poland. The Poles of Russia, Austria and Germany are eagerly awaiting news of a disastrous Russian defeat in the Far East in order to take warlike steps. This fact is well known to the imperial powers and is one of the reasons why Austria has increased her forces in

It is also learned that one of the agreements arrived at when the Czar and Emperor Francis Joseph met at Murzsteg was in regard to mutual protection against the Poles. It is said that both Austria and Germany have promised to protect the Russian boundary should it be left undefended on account of events

The Polish question is one of the reasons why Germany has been so anxious to please Russia. The Russians expelled from Germany as anarchists have been mostly Poles.

Russia may have three revolutions on her hands, as well as a war with Japan. PRAGUE, (Bohemia) March 6.—Student rioting was renewed here today on a larger scale than that of last week. Rival German and Czech factions, demonstrating for and against Russia, came to blows, and many persons were injured. The mounted gendarmerie was unable to disperse the demonstrators, and the military was called out and quelled the rioting.

MEMBERS RESENT TACTICS. He told members of the committee about certain gentlemen who had op about certain gentlemen who had op-posed the eight-hour bill and anti-in-junction bill, and had failed to be re-elected. It is needless to say mem-bers of Congress resented such tactics. The labor lobby has also been work-ing on the quiet. They have caused workmen all over the country to sign petitions and memorials and resolu-tions with regularity and with no more thought or reason than automata, which communications have deluged which communications have deluged certain members of Congress who have been so bold as to give a hint that they are opposed to the legislation desired by the labor organizations. But it can be said to the credit of the members of Congress that a large present of can be said to the credit of the mem-bers of Congress that a large propor-tion of these communications from workmen have been without effect. There is one member of the Chicago delegation who systematically and re-ligiously throws all communications of the character described into the waste basket.

When I find I am getting a numwhen I must be a second when I must be of letters or other communications, all prepared along the same lines and relating to some damin fool labor bill," he said, "I make up my mind to pay no attention to them, for the men who attention to them, for the men who attention to them, and the more than a attention to them, for the men who send them are nothing more than a lot of sheep; manipulated by a few un-scrupulous agitators who take advan-tage of the ignorance of their follow-ers to delude them."

LABOR LEADERS FAIL a result of the methods referre labor leaders have been anything but successful in everything they have but successful in everything they have undertaken in this Congress. In the first place, they wanted the Grosvenor anti-injunction bill reported forthwith by the House Committee on Judiciary, right after Congress met. They failed to even secure early hearings upon that measure, they being postponed the hearings on March 23 and 24. The same fatality attended the eight-hour bill. Although Chairman Gard-ner of the House Committee on Labor is a good friend of organized labor, SORRY PLIGHT.

Is a good friend of organized labor, that committee put off the actual beginning of hearings upon the Hitt Bill until February 11, by which time the labor lobby had hoped to have their bill reported in the House. Since that date the opponents of the eight-hour bill have occupied four days in stating their position to the committee, with next Thursday and probably several other days in prospect.

with next Thursday and probably sev-eral other days in prospect.

ANOTHER TURN-DOWN.

Again, the union-labor lobby worked hard to secure early hearings of the eight-hour bill in the Senate Commit-tee on Education and Labor. The chairman of that committee, Senator McComas, like Mr. Gardner, is a friend McComas, like Mr. Gardner, is a friend to eight-hour legislation, but he could not persuade the members of the committee to event consent to fix a day for heginning hearings. They compromised by agreeing that March 15 they will consider the matter of when to begin hearings and perhaps reach a decision thereon.

unions and their representatives in and out of Congress in working for the eight-hour bill and anti-injunction bill have been severely criticized by many persons. Instead of appearing before the committees having these measures under consideration and advancing arguments as to why they should be favorably reported, the members of the labor lobby have contented themselves with being present at the hearings given opponents of labor legislation and merely injecting occasional questions in a haphazard fashion into the proceedings. These questions have, many of them, been foolish and irrelevant, in the opinion of the members of the committees, who have repeatedly rebuked questioners for taking up valuable time in that manner.

When they have departed from this course it has been to threaten, as did Representative Livernash, in speaking on his eight-hour amendment to the leadership so long that they are more or less lost without him. But even Gompers would be powerless to force the committee in Congress having the bills in which he is interested under consideration, to act hastily in the face of the tremendous opposition to

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.) SAN FRANCISCO, March 6 .- The SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—The executive council of the California State Federtaion of Labor met in executive session today. It was decided to cend an organizer to Fort Brarg in the montests of the stricting workers in the vecods and mills and to prosecute several boycotts. President Knox and Secretary Benham were authorized to take means to introduce union-label cloaks in the market, and the report of Organizer Wheeler on several weeks work in Eureka was received and approved. The council also resolved to attend to labor matters in Stockton.

It was reported also that since January, twenty-three unions, including 5261 members, had affiliated with the State organization. Thirty-two unions have been organized by the State Federation in the last eight months.

Then after Mr. Gompers had demanded a special hearing upon the bill, granted to him by courtesy of the committee, and asked that the Grosvenor bill be reported early, the committee again administered a turn-down to union labor.

The labor lobby had boasted that the anti-injunction bill would be reported shortly after the hearings last week, but the committee decided to continue

ICE GORGES MOVE DOWN ON TOLEDO

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

Toledo (O.) March &—This city is in imminent danger tonight. There has been rain during the entire day, and the ice gorges up the river have been gradually moving down toward the city. At 10 o'clock, the ice had formed a temporary gorge five miles above the city. At the bridge of the Toledo Railway and Terminal Company, a mile below the gorge, the water was 19 feet above the normal stage. The gorge cut out three piers of the Urban and Interurban Railway Company's bridge across the river at that point.

In the city the water was about seven feet above the normal stage, and was rising at the rate of about six inches an hour. Guards are stationed at voints along the river and are keeping the officials in this city informed as to the situation.

made hast night on Joseph Buttgenback, who was fatally shot in his office by unknown assassins, the detectives have arrested Albert Buttgenback, his son, and Louis Brune, his book-keeper. As yet no charge has been placed against the men, who will be held, however, for further inquiry.

A colored man employed by the firm says the father and son had a quarrel prior to the assault, and that during the day he saw the son come out of a saloon on the corner changing a pistol from one pocket to another. This the son denies, and says it was a monkey wrench which he handled, and not a pistol. On the contrary, a neighbor who was on the sidewalk in front of the store at the time the assault is supposed to have taken place says that there was no one but the proprietor in the store at the time, to his knowledge.

PARIS, March 6.—It is not expected that Japan's intention to build the Beoul-Wiju Railroad will cause any serious clash with the owners of the early French concessions.

The original concession was granted to a French company in 1896. Later, the concession was modified so that the road was to be built by French engineers and with French material. A considerable portion of the line has already been laid under French auspices, and it is understood that Foreign Minister Deleases has sought to protect French interests along the railroad, the same as he protected the rights of the Panama Canal Company during the Panama uprising. But, while giving all due protection to French interests, the officials say this concession is not one which is likely to give rise to any serious Justice Brewer and Senator Dolliver were the principal speakers. Dr. Danlel C. the Bible and parts of the Bible to the nations of the world. Justice Brewer said:

"It is scarcely necessary before this audience to enter upon an eulogy or defense of the great Book of books. But this is the age of the iconoclast, when destructive criticism runs rampant. Some criticism, indeed, is reverent and useful, that which seeks simply by correcting wrong translations and arranging in chrohological order the matchless truths of the scripture.

"But there are other critics without such lofty aim, who strike to destroy the faith of other men simply because it is held. The iconoclast is a popular man today. To him the Hible appears merely as a sort of crazy quilt of untrue history, distorted science, weak poetry, impractical morality and vague foreshadowings of the unknown and unknowable. Yet we who believe know there are passages in the Bible unsurpassed in solemn beauty in the literature of the world; that its ideals of morality are those to which the best within us is always aspiring, that its promises are the sweetest and most comforting that have ever come to the tired hearts of man."

Justice Brewer declared that the greatest glory of this nation lies in the fact that ever and always she has striven to translate into the vernacular of international law the parable of the good Samaritan and the Golden Rule.

Senator Boiliver said that the Bible Society had contributed more than any other influence to round the creeds of Christendom into one grand whole, representing universal Christianity.

"One of the grandest enterprises I ever heard of in connection with any organization." Senator Dolliver said.

Mr. Kemp said that the career of Biddy Mason was in many respects remarkable; and that, born a slave, and hampered with many restrictions, she had succeeded in amassing a property that was valued at more than $100,000. "Yet it is not for this property, but her sweet, helpful Christian character that Biddy Mason is remembered," declared Mr. Kemp. VENERABLE CHURCH-BUILDER.

VENERABLE CHURCH-BUILDER.

VENERABLE CHURCH-BUILDER.

Then came one of the picturesque features of the day. Chairman Lee introduced to the congregation a white-haired patriarch, Rev. Peter Green, who stands to the colored Methodists of California in somewhat the same relation that the venerable Moses of cold did to the children of Israel. Father Green has been a presiding elder in the church as far back as anyone can remember. His religion is of that practical kind that makes use of both the heart and the hands. In the early days he began to labor with the excattered colored people of California, and had as his parish the whole coast from San Dieso to Washington. With his own hands Father Green builded churches at Marysville, Stockton, ...cd Bluff, and Virginia City; and he was the moving spirit in establishing the work in Los Angeles. When the Methodists were ready to dedicate the new church their thoughts reverted to this venerable father in Israel, who had started the work, and the kindly idea was carried out of sending for him to come down from Martines, Contra Costa county, to participate with them in the enjoyment of the beautiful new structure.

reasons dedicatory ceremonies were put off from time to time. There were present yesterday afternoon a number of high officers of the State W.C.T.U., under whose auspices the home is conducted; several prominent clergymen; a group of men who made the building of the house possible, and many interested women of the temperance union and kindred organizations.

The grounds of the home comprise two and one-half acres of rich alluvial soil washed through ages of time from the surrounding hills. The land is eminently adapted to cultivation, and is being put into planting now. The house is a three-story structure, with large attic. It is well constructed and neatly finished in light wood, containing over twenty rooms. The land has been owned by the home corporation for two years, and last June the board of directors began the erection of the building just dedicated. In addition to the main structure there is a barn, and also a bakery and laundry combined. The latter work-places are well furnished with latest improved machinery for cooking and laundering.

The services yesterday were conducted under the direction of Rev. and Mrs. H. E. M. Pattee, the musical programme being in charge of Mrs. Catherine Pierce Wheat. The visitors gathered themselves upon the broad landing of the stairway at the second floor, where, ensponeed in a comfortable arm-chair, was seated "Mother" Eleanor Ransom in her ninetieth year, living in the home named for her. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Rice of the Children's Home, followed by Scripture reading by Mrs. Emma Cash, State president of the W.C.T.U. federation.

Mrs. M. C. Barber then told some of the home's history, saying in negligible of the stairway in negligible of the home's history saying in negligible of the stairway in negligible of the stairway and the second floor where the stairway at the second floor her.

Mrs. M. C. Barber then told some of the home's history, saying in part:

"In March, 1889, the 'Social Purity League' was formed, with the general purpose of improvement of public morals in so far as it could do so. May 23 of that year the league opened up its institution in a rented house of six rooms, and the bed for the first inmate was borrowed—she being an unfortunate and deserted wife. After several its institution in a rented house of six rooms, and the bed for the first immate was borrowed—she being an unfortunate and deserted wife. After several months all other work was dropped, and the league devoted its time and money exclusively to the support of the 'Ransom' home, as it was called after one of its most enthusiastic supporters. November 23 of that year the W.C.T.U. took charge, and in September, 1891, control passed to the governing body of—the State. Mrs. S. R. Woods became matron in September, 1901, and since that time has served most efficiently.

"During twelve years we have sheltered over 400 women and children, and many little ones have come into the world within our walls. Sixty of these unfortunates were motherless girls, their ages only being from thirteen to nineteen! The institution was incorporated in April, 1900, and is now governed by a board of eleven directors elected annually. We have deep gratitude in our hearts today for the years of kindness tendered by the meat markets, the bakeries and the ice companies, as well as to Doctors Miller, LeDuc, Schmitz and True, who have voluntarily proffered their services to us in all times of our need. Mrs. Woods must have especial credit—this building is hers, and the planning and designing were done, one might say, between night and morning, while the regular work of the home took up her entire days."

Mrs. Woods herself then told in detail the work connected with the construction of the house, and of the kindness of lumber dealers, mill owners, and others in the building. A great part of the labor was donated, kind-hearted workmen spending their holidays early and late hours tolling hard for the charity. The excellent condition of house and grounds today attest their painstaking skill.

Short addresses were then given by Rev. Willett, Rev. John Lloyd Pitner and others.

FATAL FEEL OF LEG LUMP

Wyoming Tourist Robbed of Eight Hundred.

Greenbacks Were Hidden in Statesman's Drawers.

Pick pocket Got the Money on Westlake Car.

One of the most sensational leg-pulling feats ever performed in Los Angeles, and one of the most amusing, came to light last night in one of the downtown hotels, although the robbery, it appears, has been kept as quiet as possible by the victim. The facts are vouched for by one of the victim's friends, also a winter tourist here, and well known in the city.

A week ago yesterday Hon. William Robinson of Dayton, Wyo., formerly a representative of Sheridan county in the Wyoming State Legislature, was robbed of $310, mostly in paper money, between Westlake Park and the downtown district. Of this amount $500 was abstracted from one of the legs of the unsuspecting, yet suspicious victim's drawers.

"Suspicious," because it so happened that before starting on that expensive little jaunt to Westlake Mr. Robinson of Wyoming had especially arranged to foil pickpockets and thugs.

Now, this tourist, who his friend intimates, is—no, not a tenderfoot, for he is one of the ploneers of Wyoming—but a man more at home on a ranch than in a city, feared that in a metropolis ways that are dark and tricks that are vain are matters of everyday life on the streets. He had heard that during the winter Los Angeles was more or less infested with both the light-fingered and the lead-pipe gentry, so he prepared to keep his money well secreted on his person while touring hereabouts. Before starting to visit Westlake, he placed $10 in change in a purse in his hip pocket, to defray current expenses, and another wallet, containing $500 in large bills he fastened to one of the legs ing to visit Westlake, he placed $10 in change in a purse in his hip pocket, to defray current expenses, and another wallet, containing $800 in large bills, he fastened to one of the legs of his drawers, well down the limb. He was accompanied by his sister. Mrs. William Smith, and her husband, who came down with him from the north. They also secreted money about their persons.

As the party was nearing the end of a stroll through the park, the Wyoming rancher put his hand around to the hip pocket—just as a feeler. The element of suspicion in his countenance immediately settled into an expression of conviction. One of the tricks that are dark, but not in vain had been played on him. He had been touched for the $10 wallet.

Mr. Roblinson reached down and felt of a lump on his leg. Then he leaned over and whispered to fits relatives: "They've got the short one, all right, but they'll never get the long one." and he winked the other eye.

Mr. Robinson is one of the well-known men of the Northwest, and a prominent Republican in his State. He is one of the wealthlest cattle owners in those parts, and among other things his ranch is distinguished for the fact that he raises on it all the potatoes used by the dining service of the Pullman Car Company throughout most of the country, which he furnishes year by year on regular centract.

While Mr. Robinson was not seriously embarrassed financially by the theft, he was pretty sensitive over the matter and preferred not to report the clever trick to the police for fear the public would hear of it. He left last week for his home, willing, evidently, to pay the price he had lost for secrecy.

THE LAW'S DELAYS.

Justice Brewer, of the United States Supreme Court, in an address before the law class of Yale College some months ago, speaking of the lax enforcement of law in this country, declared that it had seemed to him at times "that legislation was conceive in the spirit of obstruction to the pur ishment of criminals. To obstruct the administration of justice," he continued, "the writ of habeas corpus, writs of error and pleas for stays of pro-ceedings have been resorted to by many lawyers; and, last of all, often and often, stand tender-hearted executives to interpose clemency." Justice Brewer regards this perversion of the law's purposes as one of the fruit-ful causes of lynchings. "It is not to be wondered at;" he said in the adcommunities have arisen in their punishment that the machinery of the law has delayed, and which they feared it might delay among them, Coming from a Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, these expressions are significant. They are confirmatory of the comthat in cases of capital crime the nearest judge shall convene court as will effect greater safety in construc-tion.

The whole world appears to have gone speed-crazy of late. This is manifested by the wild efforts of au-tomobilists to fight against time, often with disastrous results to themselved and those who are riding with them.

convinced that such was the case could grant a new trial. Justice Brewer would have no new trials granted upon mere technicalities, but only in cases where the evidence of wrong conviction seems to the higher court to be conclusives

The proposition to abolish appeals altogether in criminal cases seems pretty radical—and especially so as coming from a Justice of the highest judicial tribunal in the land. But the judicial tribunal in the land. But the need for some radical action as a remedy for abuses which have become well-nigh intolerable, is becoming more and more apparent. There has been an alarming increase of crime in the United States during the last two decades, and this increase has been encouraged and promoted, without a doubt, by the facility with which criminals of all classes and conditions have nals of all classes and conditions have been enabled to escape the conse-quences of their crimes through the law's technicalities and delays. On parently good authority the state-ent is made that "not a single public official charged with wrongdoing in New York within the last fifteen years has actually received legal pun-ishment. Many have been indicted; a number have been convicted and sen-tenced, but some higher court has inground of a flaw in the indic some other purely technical defect, and never on the relative merits of the question at issue." Such a record as this is a reproach to any com-munity, and it shows that there is something radically wrong in the methods of judicial procedure.

It has been well said that "enough has been done for those who murder, and it is time the courts were doing something for those who do not wish to be murdered." The laws have been thwarted so far in the non-punishment of criminals that the people have lost faith, to a most regrettable extent, in its efficacy as an instrumentality for the punishment of crime. This feeling motion of the mob spirit; for in ag gravated crimes no thought is so mad dening as the thought that the crimof the law through the machination technicalities. It may be set down as an undeniable proposition that lynchings can never be done away with un til there have been radical reforms in methods of judicial procedure, such as will render the prompt and adequate punishment of crime, by legal meth-ods, reasonably certain. When this result shall have been attained there will no longer be any shadow of ex-cuse for lynchings, and public condemnation will speedily put a stop to

The equipment of several important railways in Europe and Asia will soon be changed so as to conform to American models, thorough tests having demonstrated the decided superiority of the American appliances. A large number of new locomotives will be constructed in Bavaria after the model of approved American makes. In India the government will soon introduce heavier locomotives and cars, modeled after standard American types. Wherever American machinery has been introduced it has won its way by reason of its acknowledged superiority. But with all our superior machinery and appliances, the annual loss of life on American railways is greater than in any other country. Some remedy for this discreditable state of things ought to, be found, and it must be found if American railways are to become fitting models for the world to copy after.

TRIUMPH.

Eloquently Portrayed by the Pro-Cathedral Crowded With Devout Worshipers.

St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral wis too small yesterday morning to accommodate the throng drawn by the announcement that Rev. Dr. Cyrus Townsend Brady was to occupy the pulpit. Many stood throughout the service, and none were "turned away empty."

To Dr. Brady has been given the apostolic commission to go and to preach and persuade men. The same forceful characteristics that pervade his writings and emphasize his activities in other lines are much in evidence ties in other lines are much in evidence in the preacher. Optimistic, emphatic and insistent in matters of everyday life, Dr. Brady, in the pulpit, supplements these qualities by putting into his utterances a spirit that impresses his auditors with the thought that the speaker is moved by profound convic-tion strengthened by a lofty ideal and of the finite when linked with infinity.

The text chosen yesterday was characteristic of the man. Its very simplicity gave opportunity for uplifting thought and with a full appreciation of its import the speaker delified man. The text was "I am," Jehovah's designation of His own attributes given in reply to the inquiry of Moses as to Jehovah's identity. In unfolding his subject Dr. Brady said during his discourse:

"We all have some fixed idea as to God; all have some fixed idea as to God; all have some recognition of His existence, both alike difficult of explanation and not easily defined. Often-times we are the 'most ignorant of that which to us is most assured,' but there can be no dependence upon a being with whom there can be no personal relation. As to our own personal existence no doubt is entertained. I think, therefore I am are the most eloquent words ever uttered by a tongue not ablase with inspiration's fire. We say that 2 and 2 makes 4, but how can we prove it? The most ordinary facts of everyday life baffle us when we attempt to prose their peculiar nature. We cannot prove that green is green nor that red is red, but there is our assurance that can never be denied us and that is "I am.' What a stupendous fact and how big with promise and possibility.

"In searching for a name that would convey to the mind of man some knowledge of His personality, Jehovah could find none more expressive than the simple words of the lext. The personality of God is brought in touch with the personality of man, and man is inspired to grasp at the heights, to do, to dare and to aspire. The infinite God rove hundred wears are is the dog of today. Not so years ago is the dog of today. Not we with man. With him there are no limitations, spiritually, morally, mentally, nothing to curtail his possibilities when linked with God. To me one of the most sublime truths is that each one of us represents a thought of God. Nor are his thoughts turned toward us because of this care because He so wills it; because He loves us. So when I think of Him it is as a God of love. His personally is forever bent upon us and as we contemplate this truth, with swelling heart and kindling aspirations there comes the conviction that I am.

"But there are other considerations. How are our personallities meeting God's overtures? Shall we think continually of God? Many have tried it and have gone mad in the effort. It is a part of our duty to think a little of man. What can we do? The answer is 'ready. Through Jesus Christ we can have such a consciousness of Goda consciousness that will dominate our entire being, control every act and make improbable the entertainment of a thought apart from God. Just as the harmony of the Muses is stamped upon our souls so God enthrones Himself in our hearts and, becomes the base of every structure of the soul.

"But these god-given privileges are not secured without effort. God will do much of our part, but not all. There must be an exercise of the will and a striving after the infinite. A peffect salvation has been provided and none are excluded from its benefits. Persistently men endeavor to determine the nature of the unpardonable sin. In the fact that its nature has never been revealed I find precious evidence of the love of God. No man can settle upon the conviction that he has sinned away his last chance. There lives no man so low, so debased, to whom I would dare say 'You have committed the unpardonable sin.' To all is given the privilege of linking himself with God and with low, so debased, to worm a committed the unpardonable sin.' DREEZY PARSON HUSTLED THEM.

NO THE HAMILTON METHODISTS DEDICATED CHURCH.

Five Thousand Dellars Raised at Last Evening's Service and Edi-fice Was Cleared of Debt-"May Nothing; De It Now" Was the Morry Watchword.

A breezy Chicago parson wheedled over $5000 out of the first congregation to sit in the brand new Hamilton Methodist Episcopal Church last night.

It had been intended to postpone the dedication until May, trying to raise the money by that time.

"May nothing," said Dr. Louis Curts enthusiastically. "We'll raise the money now." And he "joilled" them until they went down into their jeans and dug up.

"They tell me I'm a terrible beggar," be said with a functional processing grin. "but and dug up.

"They tell me I'm a terrible beggar," he said with a fascinating grin, "but I'm not; I'm a collection agent."

"Once I was raising money for a church in Michigan and a man told me if I'd let him alone and let him go home he would give me $50. I'm open to offers like that now."

He appointed solicitors to go through the congregation and get subscriptions. They began calling back "One hundred dollars" and "Fifty dollars." At last they stopped calling.

"Oh, go back and hustle." he shouted at them; "I know they've got it."

They went back. One called back "A friend, $15."

"May the Lord multiply your friends," retorted the parson, at which every one laughed.

He kept urging them on until at last one of the solicitors said desperately, "I guess I haven't got any more friends." But the oilg breezy purson was just getting worked up.

"Come on; come on!" he said. "If you don't finish this now, it will be worse than buckwheat cakes and molasses when they don't come out even."

There was a revival of the bid-calling for a little while.

"Say," he begged, "give me about $250 more and I will keep still."

A little flurry of bids.

"I'll sing you a song if you will pay. Sometimes I've raised money by offering to sing; sometimes by threatening to sing."

But he didn't sing. When he got the ing to sing; sometimes by threatening to sing."

But he didn't sing. When he got the money he said he didn't think the song would fit in.

"Oh," he said, "I have heard all the great orchestras. I have heard music to sair men's souls, but the sweetest music I could hear now would be some fellow shouting 'One hundred dollars."

He got it down to a margin of 200. Stascriptions of fifties cut it to $100. Then it dropped to $50. Some one said he would give $5 to make the test if the rest were raised. Another $10 on the same terms. With a little flurry it cut to $15, "And I've got that," said

This news, reaffirming both the heredity and easy communication of comer, has scared royalty all over Europe, as letters from the various courts pouring in here prove. The Prince and Princess have only one child, a daughter, who married into the Reuss family. The Reusses have intermarried with most royal families of Europe, and there being many princes of that name, they are somewhat in demand as marriageable probabilities. The Reusses hereditary illness is insanity. If cancer were added to that stigms, royal maids might well fight shy of them.

The story likewise affects the Kalser's sons, who will find it hard to get suitable wives, now that the hereditary of the family disease, cancer, has again asserted itself. BERLIN. Feb. 21.—There is great indignation among the Diplomatic Corps on account of some harsh treatment the young women of that set received at the hands of the Kaiser's Court Marshal. It happened at the last court ball, and only leaked out now. Names are withheld for political reasons.

Royalty, when asking a person to its house, prescribes the dress he or she shall wear. Court dresses for ladies must be extremely decollete, as every-body knows: but it was never recognized as a principle that there must be no covering whatever for the arms, except bracelets. At the last court ball several ladies of the Diplomatic Corps presumed to wear the fashionable two or three-inch lace sleevels? The Ambassadresses, rankins with Princesses, were allowed to enter the ball room with their sleevelets, but any lady below that rank was invited to step into the Court Marshal's office as soon as removal of wraps disclosed the wicked arm covering.

The Court Marshal then and there told her ladyship that he could not allow her to enter the ball room in a dress which the Emperor disapproved of, and whether the girls wanted to or not their sleevelets were ripped out. The same happened to a number of German Dowagers, despite protests and iamentations.

PARIS, Feb. 23.—Gladys Deacon, accounted the most beautiful American girl abroad, and the best dreiser in the colony here, constained the other day to a lordly man milliner, that her maid was kept busy all the time sugmonting the sewing on the dresses she bought at the place.

"May be," replied the fashion monger, bowing to the ground, "but, Miss Deacon, you must not forget that we are in the business of creating dresses, not to sew." ROME. March 21.—The Pope has expressed himself to a friend to the effect that his order to dissolve the Congregation for Indulgences was but the "beginning of the evacuation of all useless gold sticks from the Vatican."
There hundreds of officials have been drawing salaries for years without service, and the papal finances are such that the Pope cannot afford k-eping them longer on the salary list.

The Pope Against Philosophers.

ROME, Feb. 21.—The Pope hox forbidden priests to read Kant, whose philosophy he deems harmful to the mind because, he says. "It destroys the fundament of religion." The Pope said further that the indexers at the inquisition are now busy with the writings of the Parisian philosopher, Blondel, whose works may be forbidden in the near future. den, the famous editor, continues his campaign "against the conservative doits that control the Emperor's judgment in matters of art and caused him to exclude from the German Art Pavilion at the St. Louis exposition all the works not bearing the hall-mark of the old wooden school of pedantry." He says: "The Americans will have Lenbach, Menzel, Knaus and a few other stars whom they know, but we will show them nothing new in the line of paintings and sculptury, nothing abreast of the times; nothing that is not stale, foolish or unprofitable. Germany appropriated quite some money for art in St. Louis, but German artists will not profit a cent by the display, for the wares we send over are not wanted in the United States, and those that might find buyers and admirers are excluded."

The bricklayers employed United Verde at Jerome strength of the County Hospital, supposedly dying from gun-shot wounds in the head. His eyes had been shot out and his head so frightfully mutilated that his death, at first, was believed only a matter of a few hours. His wounds were inflicted by Chris Husman, an old miner, who lives in a shack on the bank of Granite Creek, on the outskirts of Prescott. Husman had found the man prowling around about midnight and had shot to alarm him, above his head, as he thought. When told he could not live, the patient made an ante-mortem statement, giving his mame as Mark Sullivan, a member of a lodge of Eagles at Goldfield, Colo.

Inquiry in Colorado developed that Mark Sullivan had been expelled from the order for misconduct. The naxt day after the shooting, a young man appeared at the hospital with offers of help. From him it was learned that his own name was Mark Sullivan and that the patient's name was W. J. O'Bgien, not of Kansas City, as he had stated, but of Pueblo, Colo. The two had been partner hobos, and the indured man had thought to do his friend a service by assuming his name, as Sullivan had left Colorado under a charge of having wassed he

The first was the formal dedication of the lot on Vignes street, near Ducommun, where it is proposed to erect the new "Man's Hotel," the missionary enterprise which the pastor of the Bethlehem Institutional Church, Rev. Dana W. Bartlett, has worked so long and so indefatigably to consummate.

The exercises were held on the lot in the open air at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and were attended by a goodly assemblage from the neighborhood, and citizens from other parts of the city, who are interested in the work of the institution.

He said in part:

"Christianity is unique among all religions in that it is propagated largely lightly and the present of the place and conditions of his birth; for he was separated to this service by God from birth. He was born in Tarsus in Cecilia, a Roman province. Because of this he was constituted a Roman citisen, which served a great purpose in largely for his race-wide mission to all people. This was a city of great educational facilities, and in them he received to the Gentiles. He saw here the attempts of the great heather eligions to satisfy the religious needs of men. Obedient Service.

At the First United Presbyterian Church yesterday morning Rev. Will W. Logan preached on the theme "Obedience and Service," taking as a text Fsalms xi, 6: "Mine ears thou hast opened."

He said in brief: "The opening of the ears here referred to has often been understood to mean the opening of deaf ears. But the reference is to something entirely different. It is to a custom well understood by the Hebrew people. The so-called slavery that existed by the law of Moses was so bedged about with restrictions for the benefit of the slave that it was scricely slavery at all. And the most remark of these provisions was one by which, each seven years, all slaves were set free. There was an arrangement, however, by which a slave who had become attached to his master, could refuse to leave him. In such a case the master took his slave to the door post and bored through the lob of the ear with an awi. And this opened ear' was a badge of servitude that was no tonly perpetual, but it was a service of lovena self-chosen slavery.

"Thus the Psalmist says: "I have chosen the service of God. I have proclaimed myself Eis bond-servant forever. And my "opened" ear-my pierced ear-proclaims it."

"It is well for us to remember that

The drawings provide for twelve schoolrooms, an assembly hall to seat 600 people, and lunch rooms, manual training rooms and a gymnasium in the basement.

The second way in which I changed my opinions was in coming to see that principle is that which is vital, in religious experience and expression. There was a time when I was inclined to make a dogma out of the desirability of not having dogmas, but I have passed entirely through that and now place no emphasis at all on dogma or the lack of it; but see that principle and the application of this truth to conduct is the vital thing in connection with human experiences, and development.

"The third way in which my opinions altered is the discovery that the yrital principle is unselfishness; and absolute trust in God and man. All philosophers teach this, and all the great religious teachers have said it. "I still aver I have never read or heard of, either in ancient or modern history, any other church which has so broad a foundation as the Methodists, which requiges of its members no conformity either in opinions or modes of worship, but barely this one thing—to fear God and work righteousness. The reason that Jesus 'spoke with authority' was because He put His principle into practice and knew that He had found the truth; and so can any of us trying to live in that fashion.

"If I have changed my faith, it is only to enlarge it. because they were untrained as thinkers. The philosophy of the coming of The eternal punishment of the lest would fill all heaven with sympathetic woe. But over against this appeal must be placed the thought that if eternal punishment be revealed in the word of Ged it surely cannot affect God's own essential blessedness and tron the blessedness of God depends the blessedness of those who are saved. He cannot conceive of the one God being an unhappy God. While God has no pleasure in the death of the wicked. He cannot be brought into tondage of spirit by the retributive, miserable conditions he imposes upon imponition sinners. Therefore it follows that when the promised destiny of believers is realized every trilever must be forever happy, for they shall be like Him."

In the World of Sport—Hildebrand's Fine Riding—Ball Players Due, OOD RUNNING AT ASCOT PARK.

ACING SHOWS IMPROVEMENT OVER PREVIOUS WEEKS.

e Riding by Hildebrand Was to Feature of the Week-Redfern Fill Doubtless Ride Around New Card for Today's Races. Surprises are in Sight.

The Ascot Park racing during the past week went along about as usual although the sport on the whole was better than in previous weeks because better average time was made. No record-making time was recorded, but better fields of horses made the time faster and the races more interesting than usual.

better fields of horses made the time faster and the races more interesting than usual.

The only startling thing of the week was the ruling off of the Redderns. It caused something of a sensation, because the jockey is known on every track in the country, and his father is almost as well known to horsemen. While the decision of the judges is a severe one on its face, it may not amount to much in the end, except in so far as it relates to tracks on the Pacific Coast. The offense with which Jockey Redfern is charged is no worse than that of his father, and is only disobedience to the orders of the judges. If the crime had been "fraud" there is no question but that several years would have gone by before the jockey would have gone by before the jockey would have been allowed to accept a mount in any part of the country. As it is he will probably be taken on very readily in certain parts of the East and allowed to ride.

As to Old Man Redfern none of the East and allowed to ride.

As to Old Man Redfern none of the sports, officials or horsemen appear to care what happens to him on account of what is called his overbearing manner and swelled head. A prominent race-horse man remarked that the jockey is a good rider and would be a much better one if it was not for the meddling of his father. As a matter of fact, no one has shed a tear since the Old Man "got his."

The New York Jockey Club officials will take up the Redfern case some time this week. While no jockey should presume to dictate to the judges of a reputable race course, whether he shall or shall not ride a horse when ordered, Redfern is only a kid and has plenty of time in which to get wise.

HOW HORSES RUN.

FAVORITES HAVE LUCK.

The wise bettors have had an easy time of it the past week picking winners and taking the money, for favorites won almost 50 per cent. of the thirty-six races. This is a remarkably good showing. In all candor, it must be stated that this result is due largely to the fine work of Jockey Hildebrand, for it is invariably the case that whenever he has a mount the animal is made a favorite on account of the jock's ability. It must be remembered, however, that he will not consent to ride a bad horse, and for that reason it is safe to assume that the majority of his victories have been with the best horses in every race. The fact that the majority of the horses ran to form last week is shown by the statement that but three outsiders won in thirty-six races, and they were in the money only twenty times in 165 chances. How the horses finished is shown by the following table:

CHICAGO BALL PLAYERS DUE.

EASTERN EXPERTS TO ARRIVE THIS MORNING.

Visitors Will Play With Looloos Next Saturday and Sunday—Man-ager Selec Thinks He Has a Strong Team-Has Six New Men.

The Chicago National League Ball Club of nineteen members is due to arrive here this morning from the home city for a little spring practice in the only climate that people know of. A big league team on a visit is an event in any city, and as the visitors are to play two exhibition games with the Loa Angeles nine, their coming has created some stir among the local fans who are gradually tuning themselves for the season that will open the latter part of this month.

Manager Selee and four members of the Chicago team have been here for some days, Chance, in fact, having been in this city for months. The other players here are Catcher Kilng, Left Fielder McCarthy and Shortstop Tinker. Those due to arrive this morning are O'Neil, Lundgrun, Weimer, Wicker, Briggs, Brown, Corridon, Evers, Dr. Casey, Jones, Williams, Moriarity, Howard and Graham, Center Fielder Slagle being a possible absentee on account of the iliness of his mother.

The team will practice every day this week at Chutes Park and on Saturday and Sunday will play exhibition games with the Los Angeles men at Chutes Park. Then next Monday the Chicago team will start for the North. The programme of exhibition games with the Los Angeles men at Chutes Park. Then next Monday the Portland Coast League team at Bakersfield, another with the Oakland or Tacoma team at Freeno and then games with other Coast clubs at San Prancisco.

Manager Selee is confident that his team this year is stronger than the games with other Coast clubs at San-Francisco.

Manager Selee is confident that his team this year is stronger than the one he had last year, although there are many of the same old faces in it. The sew change catcher is O'Nell, who was with St. Louis last year and was secured with Pitcher Brown in a trade with St. Louis for the old Chicago pitcher, Taylor, Lundgrun, Weimer and Wicker were on Chicago's pitching staff last year and Briggs, one of the new pitchers, was with Chicago six or seven years ago, and played last year with the Toronto team. Pitcher Corridon was also with Chicago last year, but did not do much work on account of illness.

but did not do much work on account of illness.

First Baseman Chance, Second Baseman Evers, Third Baseman Casey and Shortstop Tinker plaved these positions for Chicago last year. Slagle was in left field, but will play center this season, and Jones, who was in center last year, will play right field this year. These outfield changes were decided upon when Manager Selee secured Juccarthy for left field. Last year this good one played with the Cleveland American League team.

The new men that Selee now has in tow are utility infielders, Williams, who was formerly with St. Louis, and Moriarity, a Chicago boy who worked for the Oliver typewriter works at Woodstock, Ill., and caught Selee's eye when the Chicago team went there to play last year. The utility men for the outfield are Howard, an Illinois boy recommended by Pitcher Wicker, and Graham, formerly of the Rock Island Club.

Manager Selee states that the team is stronger in the ottebus by recommended the others.

York are the only clubs Selec fears, but he thinks this trip to the Coast will do the men a world of good, as it did last year.

The Chicago team expects to land in Salt Lake City about March 25 and from there will go to Colorado Springs to stay ten days. The boys will play in Omaha and Kansas City on the way home and will open the season April 14 in Cincinnati with the team of that city.

TACK MUNROE IS CONFIDENT.

BELIEVES HE HAS A CHANCE TO BEAT JEFFRIES.

Has Excuses About Their First Bout but Says the Next One Will from Sharkey Fight and Will Try

NEW YORK. March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jack Munroe, who is matched to fight Jeffries for the heavy-weight championship, said today: "I feel confident that I shall win the championship. When Jeffries met me at Butte. I had worked all day in the mines and was very tired. In the second round I had Jeffries stretched on the ropes, but I did not knock him out, as he floored me twice in the third round. In the fourth I put it all over him. Any impartial spectator of our bout in that yelling, howling mob of Butte citisens, will tell you that I had the champion going very fast in that round. Had I known as much then as I have learned since I would have finished him sure. Jeff told his manager that the first blow I landed on him in the first round made his ear ring all through the fight. If I can worry him with another blow in our championship fight when we meet in May at 'Frisco, I think my chances will be better, and I mean to try hard.

"Of course, the Jeffries I will meet at 'Frisco will not be the same Jeffries who was traveling with that show, but he will be the heavyweight champion defending his title against newcomers. But neither will I be the same Jack Munroe that faced the champion in the Montana mountains, and I mean to land the championship if possible, and I guess my showing with Sharkey lets me in for a try and a good try at that." BEST DOG WITHDRAWN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Considering the time of the year, the hares ran well at Ingleside Coursing Park today, making some lively work for the hounds. Black Coon made good work of all his courses and looked like the winner of the stake. In the fifth round Coon and Little Mercy were sent after a parties. stake. In the fifth round Coon and Lit-tie Mercy were sent after a particu-larly strong hare that took the dogs a hard course all around the field, lasting nearly three minutes. Black Coon won the course handily, but his owner wisely decided not to overwork his good dog and withdrew him. This gave Spotless Beauty and Young Fearless, who met in the de-ciding course, each a bye in the sixth round.

In the final round Spotless Beauty, at even money, defeated Young Fearless, winning the stake.

Terra Cotta proved the surerise of the day, defeating Firm Fellow in the second round at 1 to 6. For a while it looked as if Terra Cotta might prove the stake winner, but Young Fearless disposed of him in the fourth round. There were several other upsets, but the odds were not long.

GREAT SHORTSTOP TO PLAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] George Davis has decided to come into camp and be good. The great shortstop, who was one of the big factors of Comisky's team, and whose absence counted materially to the ruining of the nine last season, will again cavort upon South Side grounds, and the fans will cheer him to the echo. Davis is well on in years and has not much farther to go as an athlete. His long lay-off may have completely spoiled his playing ability, but there is an excellent chance that he there is an excellent chance that he can be trained into good shape, and in this event Comisky's infield will be of splendid ability.

The winning team was composed of the following players: Basil Williams, Charles Garland, F. J. Mackey and Capt. Neil Haig, and the Burlingames were: F. J. Carolan, Richard Tobin, Walter McCreery and John Lawson. Lawson and Haig were the star players, the first named winning great applause on two fine goal strokes. CORBETT FAVORITE IN THE BETTING.

S AN FRANCISCO, March & —[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sportdom is commencing to figure what the odds will be in the big battle between Young Corbet and Jimmy Britt. Before Young Corbett defeated Dave Sullivan so decisively it was generally believed that the wagering would be close to even money. When the crowd filed out of Mechanic's Pavilion the other night after seeing Corbett beat Sullivan, to a pulp in eleven rounds, Corbett was voted the favorite, some saying that he would carry a topheavy price. The champion will probably be a legitimate 16-to-$ favorite over Britt. The big eastern bettors will make him $ to 5. These odds are made by experts and it is quite probwill be the first time in Britt's career that he has entered a battle on the short end of the betting.

It is estimated by experts that the coming batle will draw more people from San Francisco than ever attended a boxing match in this city. The corbett-Jeffries contest drew 9369 persons, but a large percentage of these were from out of town. Manager Levy has received a telegram from Mark Shaughnessey, the Los Angeles promoheavy price. The champion will probably be a legitimate 16-to-$ favorite Blanchard Hall was crowded last night to hear Francis Murphy deliver night to hear Francis Murphy deliver, one of his famous talks upon the subject of gospel temperance. Under the title of "The Publicans," the old war-horse of temperance said a lot of things, but did not tear the publicans to pieces. He was rather hard on the people who make it possible for an undesirable business to prosper, by reason of their patronage.

"but I say, if you don't want them to prosper stop buying their goods. Close up the saloons at 6 o'clock in the evening, the same as any other business, and you will see no drunkards. Take the money out of the business; they haven't got a penny out of me for thirty-sight years, and they never will."

The music was fine last night. The plano was supplemented by a violin, cornet and clarionet. Mr and Mrs. Eccleston sang with fine effect, and the solo of Mrs. French was also an exquisite number. Little Annie Row sang more sweetly than ever. She was greeted with applause as she stepped forward and received an ovation as she concluded. She sang a "Slumber Song," and gave "The Sunbeam" as an encore.

Blanchard of Santa Paula the Bard leaders in the county will hold a conference at the Rose Hotel in this city tomorrow to consider the best way in which to start the Bard campaign. One of the points to be settled at the conference tomorrow will be the question as to who will oppose the Oxnard man. D. T. Perkins, who has already served in the State Senate and in the Assembland who is Senator Bard's business partner, is considered by many to be a proper opponent to face Driffill. But Perkins has been quoted as saying he does not again want to run for office. It is thought, however, that if it is necessary for him to enter the lists in order to save the day for Bard he will do so. Another strong man mentioned VENTURA, March 6.-The forces o order to save the day for Bard he will do so. Another strong man mentioned is ex-Assemblyman Clarke, who is also considered a sure winner if he would enter the field. Twenty Cars of Norris and Rowe Show

Roll into Southern Pacific Station.

Outgoing passengers, trainmen, belated pedestrians and others in the vicinity of the Southern Pacific station last night were treated to an entertainment a bit out of the ordinary, for shortly before midnight three sections of twenty cars of the Norris & Rowe circus rolled into the depot from Salinas. Late as it was, most of the performers were awake and eager to get a peep of Los Angeles, as for most of them it was their first trip to Southern California. The majority of the serial performers and acrobats were secured by Norris & Rowe from Europe and Orrin Bros. circus of Mexico. Messra.
Norris and Rowe came uptown immediately and registered at a local hotel.
In speaking of the increased size of the show, Mr. Rowe said: "It has long been the desire of Mr. Norris and myself to have a complete circus. Our trained animal show always met with appreciation and liberal attendance, and this feature we will always retain,
but our ambition was to own a circus that the West could call their own, for this section is our home and San José our winter quarters. I am quite sure that the entertainment we will offer this week will surprise and delight lovers of this sort of entertainment. The aerial performers, acrobats, equilibrists and athletes we have been fortunate enough to engage for the show, combined with our new menagerie and trained-animal acts, make it a circus in every meaning of the term."

The show will give two performances in Passadena today, and tomorrow will come to Los Angeles for a five-day visit, showing at the old grounds at Eleventh and Flower streets.

MOVING HUGE BOILERS. usual and extrordinary job of moving is in progress here. In concentrating its steam plant at Vineyard, the Los Angeles and Pacific Railroad Company gave up a steam plant of nearly 1000 horse power capacity at the power house here. Their plant is now being removed to Vineyard. There are three boilers, each weighing twenty tons. In order to move each boiler as one piece an entire end had to be torn out of the power house and a railway track has been built into the house. Owing to the height of the loaded cars the boilers cannot be taken to Vineyard via the short line. as the car would not go under the B. P. bridge at Iyy. This necessitates travel by way of Santa Monica, and in order to go that way the top of the bridge at Santa Monica will be taken off. The run must be made by night, as the car must not use the left-hand track to escape scraping the poles.

RECORD OF BUILDING OPERA-TIONS IN BEACH CITY.

ness Places Planned.

SANTA MONICA, March 6.—Santa Monica is rapidly assuming the proportions of a city. Since the passage of an ordinance last November requiring the taking out of building permits, thirty-eight of them have been granted by the City Clerk, and represent an expenditure of $35,700. The municipality of Santa Monica has a large amount of street work under way, and much more is planned. The cost of that completed, under way, or contracted, is $36,500. Three and a half miles of streets have been oiled. New sewers laid since the first of the year aggregate 10,800 feet. Fourth and Second streets have been graded and oiled at an expense of $9000. On Oregon avenue thirty-eight concrete crosswalks. aggregating $000 feet, and costing $2500, ar- to be constructed at once. On Sixth street $3,000 feet of concrete walk and $000 feet of curbing have been put in. On California avenue the new side-walk amounts to $2,000 feet of grading and oiling. On Third street north from Oreg. n avenue, the curbing amounts to $600 feet, gutter, 21,600 feet, and grading and oiling. 3600 feet of Third street and Utah avenue, the asphalt paving aggregates 70,000 square feet, and the concrete gutter $400 feet. On Third street there are 7200 feet of curbing. Speedway is to be graded and oiled for a distance of 5000 feet, and Hollister avenue is to be paved from the ocean to Second street. The recently completed work not covered by the estimate includes the paving of Marine street and Pler avenue, with asphalt, and the concreting of Fraser avenue. The water company is laying many thousand feet of new mains and improving the service throughout the city. One of the most important improvements is the construction of the Carnegie library building, the contract price for which is $12,500; aside from $350 for the site.

Other improvements nearing completion or under way are as follows: Andrew Mink, No. 139 Eleventh street, 1000 cottage, 2, 200; Mary H. Winslow, Stoneham tract, $600 cottage in C. J. Clarke, $3550 two-story cottage at Eleventh and Six-iteen and Miss Alice Rose Eyton, sister of Charles Eyton of the Burbank Theater, bids fair to come into much prominence as a writer. She has just put into the hands of New York printers a movel entitled "Twixt Soul and Sense," which is highly commended for its graphic power of description, its clever interpretation of human nature and the subtle undercurrent of the writer's philosophical thought. Miss Eyton is in receipt of a letter from The United Literary Press, her publishers, which says: "We find your book in every way satisfactory. If you have already published any books, kindly give us the titles. We will at once place the work on the market."

Cecil Platz, aged 12, whose home is at No. 1038 Wall street, was run over by a car of Los Angeles Railway Company at Tenth and San Pedro streets list night and his arm so crushed that it may have to be amputated. The boy was riding his bicycle in front of the car and the wheel struck some obstruction in the street, throwing him from his seat. He fell on the track and tried to roll out of the way, but the front car truck passed over his left arm crushing the flesh and bone between the wrist and elbow. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where the injury was dressed. The surgeons expressed the belief that the amputation of the injured member will be necessary in a fow days, although there is some chance of saving his arm.

Proofs of Immortality.

Dr. Alexander J. McIvor-Tyndalit spoke at Blanchard's Hall yesterday afternoon on "Proofs of Immortality." He takes the middle ground between the claims of the transcendentalist and the materialist and shows that without the element of what we call faith science can do nothing. There can be no scientific demonstration of a future life as long as we regard science as physical experimentation only, says Dr. Tyndali. "Eventually we will find that religion and science are one and the same. We will find that the question of immortality has long been answered in the soul-knowledge of truth, which the religious call faith. Then, indeed, faith will take on its real meaning, which is the soul's reasoning." Some interesting experiments followed the lecture, illustrating the reality of psychic faculties. Dr. McIvor-Tyndali will speak next Sunday afternoon on "How to Control Fate."

BREVITIES.

Millinery opening. Miss E. C. Collins, the Broadway milliner, announces her spring opening on Monday and Tuesday, March 7 and 8. Miss Collins, with her trimmers and designers, have spent an unusually long time this season in the New York market, and every social and millinery event where ideas helpfur in designing could be obtained, has been attended. Miss Collins has imported the rect, through her own Parisian countissionaire, an unusually large time of models, and the very latest conceptions now being displayed in Paris will be shown at this opening. Factory made tailored suit and street hats are r. thing of the past among good drassers, and special designs in these lines erre alone permissible. Miss Collins will show street, suit and tailored hats (always hand wrought.) after designs prepared especially for her in Paris. Each hat has a distinct individuality, and any lady possessing a "Collins hat" has the assurance that it is the best in design obtainable in Paris or New York. Miss Collins's trimmers have this verson spent weks in New York among the best Tifth avenue designers, and have studied all the best displays and importations. These trimmers are New York artists, ranking among the best in the country, and "Collins's hats" are known from coast to coast. Direct importations from Paris and shipments from New York will be received and displayed each week during the entire season. A prominent feature of Miss Collins's store is the low price placed upon the hats, when style and quality are considered. The very cheapest quality in millinery is never displayed, but medium and high-grade goods are shown at the very lowest possible prices. Invitation general; no cards.
